Dear Chair and Secretary of Peckham Branch

Resignation Letter

Since joining our local party in March of last year as a Member, at the recommendation of our Chair and under circumstances which were evidentially spurious¹ in nature, but nevertheless prior to a superbly co-ordinated and unanimous victory in contention for Parliamentary and Mayoral seats across the constituency of Camberwell and Peckham, various occasions of campaigning, and plenty of fun along the way, it is with great dismay that I have decided upon reflection to step away from my voluntary duties as an Executive Branch Officer (Vice-Chair of Campaigns and Membership and Interim Campaigns Officer) with the Peckham Branch of UK Labour Party – the party of Government.

My role in the Party has gradually become withdrawn, having not been provided with any login credentials to any of Labour's systems for campaigning by access control or Labour HQ since joining, I am frankly being asked to walk into very senior responsibilities I have no preparation for. I believe this shortfall is beginning to tell, both on the reasonability of the tasks at hand – which have become rather long-winded without the basics in place – and on correspondence with officers of the Party at the local level.

I have made this known to Secretary Wang and I have resolved to be leave the various groups I am currently a member of with immediate effect. I will continue to be a proud and fully paid-up member of the Labour Party, including its various affiliate societies, including The Fabians and Labour Housing Group.

Wishing you all the best in future.

Sincerely,

Alfred Anate Mayaki
Vice-Chair of Campaigns
Peckham Labour Party
